

Hawaiian Monk Seals

ilio-holo-i-ka-uaua

(means dog running in rough water)

Did you know? Hawaiian monk seals are native to Hawaii and not found anywhere else! They are also one of the most endangered seals in the world.

Did you know? Monk seals are named for their folds of skin that resemble a monk's cowl, and because they are usually seen alone or in small groups

